ONE MORE THEFT SATURDAY NIGHT

Robbers Enter Lewis Story's Home While he is Away and Steal $60 From a Stand

OTHER ROBBERIES RUMORED

Stories That Glen Foster's Home Was Entered and That H. C. Flint Was Held up False.

One robbery was reported to the police over the week-end. The home of Lewis Story in West Third street was entered Saturday night while Mr. Story was in the business part of the city and $60 taken from a stand. The robber evidently knew where the money was kept as nothing else in the house was touched and from all indications the burglar went direct to the stand and broke open the drawer and took the money.

Mr. Story left home shortly after seven o'clock and returned about ten o'clock to find that his home had been entered. The robbery was reported to the police but there is no clew. The police believe that who ever took the money knew that Mr. Story had it in the house and also knew where he was in the habit of leaving it.

This is the second time in two years he has been robbed. Two years ago Mr. Story made friends with a stranger and allowed him to spend the night at his home. In the morning Mr. Story discovered that the stranger had left taking with him $14 in money found in Story's trouser pocket. The thief also took Mr. Story's revolver.

No robberies were reported Sunday night. A rumor was current yesterday that the home of Glen Foster in West Fourth street had been entered and robbed and $40 taken. Mr. Foster spent the day in the country and on arriving home found that the house had not been entered and nothing was missing. It is not known how the rumor started as it was without foundation.

So far no clew has developed on the various robberies of last week. The police are inclined to believe that several of the robberies were exaggerated and that several which were reported did not occur.

There was also a rumor that H. C. Flint of the Rush County National bank had been held up and robbed of $60 Saturday night, but this was branded as absolutely false by Mr. Flint.

FAKE INSPECTOR TAKEN

J. W. Skinner, Alias Lamont, to be Arraigned in Richmond.

(By United Press.)
Muncie, Ind., Nov. 16.—Deputy United States Marshal Rankin this afternoon took in custody J. W. Skinner, alias Lamont, who, it is alleged, has been impersonating United States government inspectors in Indianapolis, Richmond, Union City, Muncie and Columbus, Ind., and Marion, Ohio, and took him to Richmond where he will be arraigned before a United States commissioner. Skinner was captured by the police here Saturday night after a long chase. He is alleged to have impersonated a government inspector aiding in stamping out the foot and mouth disease.

ASKS FOR $1,125,000,000

Premier Asquith Tells Commons of Cost of War Today.

(By United Press.)
London, Nov. 16.—Addressing the house of commons today in moving for an additional vote of credit Premier Asquith declared that up to Saturday the war had cost between $4,500,000 and $6,000,000 a day over normal expenditures. The additional vote or credit asked by the premier was for $1,125,000,000. This includes loans of $151,250,000 to the self-governing colonies.

EVERYTHING READY FOR BIG BANQUET

Over Sixty Tickets Sold at Noon Today and Others Were Expected to Purchase

AN ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY

Over sixty tickets had been sold at noon today for the "Trade-at-Home" banquet which will be held at the Windsor hotel tomorrow evening at eight o'clock under the auspices of the retail merchants division of the Rush County Chamber of Commerce. The banquet will be a part of the state-wide celebration which was started by the Indiana Retail Merchants association.

Arrangements have been made for A. P. Wagoner's orchestra of eight pieces to play at the banquet tomorrow evening. The chief talk of the evening will be made by C. A. McKeand, publicity agent of the Indiana Retail Merchants association who has been conducting the campaign started in Indiana.

According to information from the Indianapolis headquarters today, there will be more than forty banquets held in live Indiana towns and cities tomorrow night. The crowd will range from fifty to a thousand, some of the larger cities having prepared to care for the last named number.

WIRE KEEPS AUTO FROM TURNING OVER

John Nelson and Family Have Narrow Escape When Machine Skids on Pavement.

DASHES INTO WIRE FENCE

A wire that hooked over the radiator cap prevented John Nelson's automobile from turning over when it skidded on the pavement in West Third street yesterday evening about five o'clock when he and his family were on the way to their home six miles southwest of Arlington following a visit Sunday with his brother, living on the Lawrence Root farm a short distance south of the city.

When Mr. Nelson started to turn the corner, the machine turned completely around, heading in the opposite direction from that he was going, and dashed into a wire fence. It happened that a heavy wire caught over the radiator cap. Mr. Nelson says that was the only thing that kept the machine from turning completely over. The left headlight was smashed and a part of the steering gear twisted. The family went home on an I. & C. car and the automobile was brought back to a garage here for repairs.

FINDS NO TRACE OF DISEASE HERE

Dr. A. A. Mull Reports That No Sign of Foot and Mouth Epidemic is Located in Rush County.

CAREFUL EXAMINATION MADE

Attention Called to Discovery That Infected Serum Has Been Sold by One Plant.

Dr. A. A. Mull, special deputy for Rush county appointed by the state veterinarian to prevent and eradicate the foot and mouth disease among live stock, reported today that no traces of the disease had been found in this county. He has made a diligent examination of all herds of cattle under suspicion and has not found the slightest sign of the epidemic. He said today that the cattle belonging to Clyde Kitchen, which were reported to be suffering with the disease, were all right, he had found after a careful examination.

Dr. Mull today called attention to a news dispatch from Chicago telling that the carcasses of 100 hogs, found in the coolers of the Great Western Serum Company's factory at the time the serum of the concern was to be infected with hoof-and-mouth-disease germs, were "O. K'd" by City Health Inspectors and sold in Chicago as food.

The Great Western Serum Company has sold its product in Rush county and because of the discovery in Chicago farmers are warned to have some care in using it during this epidemic.

In the pens of the serum company were found 110 "test pigs" and 453 "hyper-immune" hogs. Under a Federal order, direct from the Department of Agriculture, these latter animals were ordered killed and "tanked," placed in a waste vat under forty pounds pressure for six hours and made into fertilizer.

These facts, which came to light today in connection with the hoof-and-mouth-disease investigation, caused considerable furor at the stock yards. Investigation showed that the carcasses taken from the cooler were those of animals killed on November 2.—The hoof and mouth disease was not discovered at the plant until the following Wednesday.

As the meat of the serum company is not Federal inspected, it not being intended for interstate shipment, the City Inspector passed on it. They decided that it was fit for food. Dr. H. D. Sheeran, Federal Inspector in charge of virus, serum and toxin inspection of this district, who discovered the disease at the serum plant, at once asked instructions from Washington as to what he should do with the 563 live animals in the pens. He reported that practically every animal was afflicted with the disease. The reply was to "tank" the animals. The slaughter of them is expected to be completed by next Saturday.

The Federal and State Inspectors expect to have all of the herd into which the infected serum was injected corralled by to-morrow night. Several cases of infection from that source have been found.

TWO MORE QUARANTINED.

(By United Press.)
Washington, Nov. 16.—Connecticut and Montana were quarantined today by the department of agriculture because of the spread of the "foot and mouth disease" to sections of those states, making sixteen states in all under quarantine.

* It was stated Saturday the employes of the Case Lumber company gave one barrel, but this was an error as they contributed three barrels.

With forty-four barrels of flour contributed for the fund to relieve people of Belgium who are destitute because of the war, the fund was opened to those persons who do not feel that they can afford to give a barrel of flour but who would like to help with the charitable undertaking.

Any sum will be received into the fund now and it will all be used to purchase flour sent from Rush county. Several persons have said that they would like to give but they did not think they could afford five dollars, the price of a barrel of flour sold at cost by C. G. Clark & Sons.

Up to noon today forty-four barrels had been contributed and it was probable that the list would be greater than that before evening. Many Sunday school classes were heard from yesterday. Other individuals at the church services Sunday decided to help the fund along.

The fund should be closed, some place around Thanksgiving and for that reason it was suggested in some quarters this morning that giving to help the Belgians who are without food, homes or means of support would be very appropriate and in keeping with the spirit of Thanksgiving.

MANY PRISONERS TAKEN

Berlin Reports Capture of Several Hundred English and French.

(By United Press.)
Berlin, via The Hague, Nov. 16.—Unfavorable weather is greatly interfering with operations in Belgium, it was stated at the war office here today. The capture of several hundred English and French Prisoners is reported but outside of the taking of a French position in the Argonne, no important actions are reported. Fighting in the east is very decisive it was stated.

FRICTION ARISES BETWEEN OFFICERS

In Four Counties Health Commissioners Refuse to Appoint Deputies Named by Dr. Hurty.

NELSON SENDS THEM LETTER

(By United Press.)
Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 16.—A serious clash between county and state authorities in a number of counties which if carried far enough might endanger the health of the state was disclosed here today when Dr. F. A. Nelson, state veterinarian announced that in Howard, Clinton, Fountain and Benton counties, the county health commissioners had refused to appoint the deputies designated by Dr. Hurty of the state board of health and had themselves decided to take charge of the situation caused by the epidemic of the foot and mouth disease. The county commissioners have refused to provide salaries in these counties. That other counties have taken about the same stand was intimated by Dr. Nelson.

Rumors that there had been trouble between Dr. Hurty and Dr. Nelson could not be verified.

Dr. Nelson today sent a letter to all of his deputies that if their authority was not recognized in their respective counties they should report to him conditions and obey his instructions. He said if laymen appointed by county health officers did not show the proper precautions in their work they were liable to prosecution.

HENRY JOHNSON PLEADED GUILTY

Colored Man Fined $1 Oand Costs by Judge Megee on Assault and Battery Charge.

INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Henry Johnson, colored pleaded guilty to the charge of assault and battery in circuit court this afternoon and was fined ten dollars and costs, amounting to $20.80. Johnson was indicted by the grand jury, this being the last of the indictments returned by the grand jury, which adjourned last week.

Johnson was arrested following a fight at a carnival here last summer. It was alleged that he struck Arnold Yazel and at the time was bound over to the grand jury from the police court where he was charged with assault and battery with intent to kill. The grand jury failed to see any intent to kill and made the charge assault and battery. Yazel appeared in court this afternoon when Johnson was arraigned. The fine was paid by the boy's father, Peter Johnson.

VILLA PROMISES TO LEAVE MEXICO

Commander-in-Chief of Gutierrez Faction Will Depart to Make Possible Settlement

CARRANZA WILL THEN LEAVE

His Promise Given That he Would Transfer Government to Gutierrez if Villa Departed

El Paso, Tex., Nov. 16.—General Francisco Villa, commander-in-chief of the military forces of the Gutierrez faction in Mexico has consented to resign his command and leave Mexico in order that a peaceful settlement of the republic's internal difficulties may be effected.

This information came today in a statement Provisional President Eulalio Gutierrez telegraphed to Enrique C. Llorente, diplomatic agent of the Aguas Calientes convention in Washington. Gutierrez said he had personally placed before Villa the proposition of General Venustiano Carranza, that Villa expatriate himself and the northern leader replied that he was willing to sacrifice all if it meant peace for Mexico.

Carranza had telegraphed Gutierrez direct that if Villa fulfilled these conditions, he (Carranza) would immediately transfer his government to Gutierrez and would also leave Mexico.

Gutierrez, accompanied by the entire Aguas Calientes peace convention is preparing to leave Aguas Calientes today for Mexico City to complete formal preparations for the transfer of authority. The details will be worked out in the national capital.

When Villa intends to leave Mexico and where he proposes to go have not been announced.

PROTECTION IN MEXICO PROMISED

Following Word Direct From Provisional President, Wilson Believes Strife is Over.

DICTATORSHIPS AT AN END

(By United Press.)
Washington, Nov. 16.—Positive guarantee that the lives and property of all foreigners in Mexico will be protected by the administration of provisional president Guetierrez have been received by President Wilson. In addition Guetierrez emphatically declared that dictatorships in Mexico have ended for all time and that the military factions now in control realize only a government directly commissioned by the Mexican people themselves can hope to reorganize Mexico and place the republic on a safe basis.

This guarantee sent direct by General Guetierrez to the president following the report that both Generals Carranza and Villa have agreed to eliminate themselves from the situation increase the belief in administration circles that the era of bloodshed is at an end and that there will be no further fighting.

Rev. Herbert H. Peters pastor of the German Presbyterian church at Connersville preached at the First Presbyterian church Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Peters is a young man of fine promise.

"The Morning After" In Buying

is when you have bought something that don't look good to you next day. It may be that you bought without looking around much and then saw something your neighbor had bought that looked better to you than your own purchase and he bought it at the very place you failed to go when you were looking around. Then another reason, you are sore at yourself is because you know it was your own fault. Every merchant would be glad to show you his ware at any time even if you did buy of someone else. Don't make a mistake like this when you get ready to buy a Storm Buggy. See who has the best. Examine the construction of each part of the buggy and especially the doors. Be sure they CAN'T rattle. Be sure they are constructed in a way that will insure you a light running vehicle. Look each detail of construction over before you buy and there will be no "MORNING AFTER IN BUYING" with you. We will be glad to show you our buggies at all times, and show you why we believe they are the best. Then you can use your own judgment and we will be satisfied.

WILL SPIVEY at Oneal Bros.

and other states and countries.

"It is the purpose of this commission to take up the problem and return to the governor such answers as the facts may finally determine. And in this investigation, the commission solicits the help and counsel of the people and the press throughout the state."

The road-building forces as they now exist were described as follows:

"It is estimated in round numbers that 5,000 persons in all have to do officially in various ways with the administration of our system of building and maintaining the public highways throughout the state. There is no requirement of knowledge or competency for the discharge of these duties. There is no unity in method or organization, or state regulation or supervision, direction or control. Little or nothing is being done for the safety of the traveling public at railroad crossings, where accidents of maiming and death are occurring daily.

The commission points out the newest problem facing road builders as follows:

"A new power is coming into general use upon the public highways which will rapidly increase in the future. The ordinary gravel road is found insufficient to resist the stress and force of automobiles, trucks and the like; and so a new problem is presented."

Some space is given the method now existing by which road building is financed. Since the townships are not able to pay all cash down for any important improvement, provision is made for non-taxable road bonds issued in annual series, running from 10 to 20 years, bearing interest at 4 1/2 per cent, per annum. The bonds are increasing rapidly from year to year, the commission says so that the interest on them is nearly $1,500,000 annually, to which must be added the yearly maturing bonds.

The commission sums up:

So that it has come about that the permanent roads within the state are under no uniform system, but each township on its own initiative, makes such improvements of such roads as the people and officers thereof from time to time determine. Moreover, probably one-third of the entire population of the state live in the cities and towns who, generally speaking, contribute little or nothing to the construction of the state.

Since there are 1,017 townships in the state, the roads have become a "miscellaneous patchwork" of gravel, stone, cement, brick and common dirt.

The commission has sent out many letters and the bulletin reproduced many of the replies. The commission has written to the governors and highway officials of all states, heads of eminent engineering colleges with road schools, the post office department, the agricultural department and officials of public roads at Washington; to all the county auditors of Indiana, to all the county highway superintendents of Indiana and all the township trustees.

COMMENT ON COLD FACTS

Problems Facing Road Building and Methods Employed Are Pointed Out—One Hearing Held.

(By United Press.)

Indianapolis, Nov. 16.—The Indiana State Highway Commission appointed by the Governor to investigate and report on road conditions and road laws in Indiana today began its program through which it expects not only to inform itself comprehensively on the subject of good road building and finances, but also to awaken interest in the state along proper lines. It made public here its first bulletin giving the results of investigation made to date, and in LaPorte the commission met with citizens in the first of a series of public gatherings to sound the public sentiment on good roads.

Today's bulletin gave in brief comment the cold facts of how Indiana's roads are made. It let these facts speak for themselves. It outlined the problem before the commission in the following statement:

"Can a better and more uniform and business method be had for constructing and maintaining our public roads, commensurate with the present and future growth and needs of the state? The answer must be found if at all, in patient and careful investigation in the light of experience of the people of this

That's what you want, and that's what Calumet is guaranteed to give you—

CORRESPONDENT HIGHLY HONORED

William Philip Simms Designated by French to Visit Battlefields on French Border.

HE IS U. P. MANAGER AT PARIS

War Office Allows Only One Correspondent to Represent Seven Neutral Countries.

(By United Press.)

Paris, Nov. 16.—In the first group of foreign correspondents officially nominated by the French government to visit battlefields along the Anglo-French-German battle lines, announced today, William Philip Simms manager of the Paris bureau of the United Press was designated to represent American.

The war office decided to permit only one correspondent to represent each of seven important neutral countries on the official tour, which will be made at the same time by the foreign military attaches designated by the seven neutral countries as military observers. In accordance with this ruling, Simms was chosen from among the American correspondents to make the trip.

The party will be escorted by French officers and considerable time will be devoted to inspecting the battlefields along the Marne and the main territory covered by the advance and retreat of the German armies.

This is the first time that any correspondents have been officially permitted to visit the front by either France or England. The correspondent officially accredited by England have been held in London and the British have not as yet permitted any foreign military observers to go to the front.

Simms, William Shepherd and other correspondents made their way to the French front on various occasions but never under official escort and on practically every occasion they were nominally arrested and forced to return to Paris.

Milroy was organized yesterday for the campaign to raise enough money, in Milroy and vicinity to send a car load of flour to Belgium. The ministers of Milroy have the campaign in hand. They expect to appeal to the people to give in the spirit that makes Thanksgiving day a signal for giving thanks all over the land for the plenty that abounds.

It was expected that many farmers would gladly take advantage of the offer to give five bushels of wheat and be credited with a barrel of flour for the Belgian relief fund. So far, however, only one farmer has made it known that he will do this. L. B. Miller was credited with giving five bushels of wheat but this was a mistake as he intends contribute five dollars, the sum necessary to buy a barrel of flour.

There is yet ample time for farmers to bring in five bushels of wheat some day when they come to Rushville and help save the lives of some destitute people who face a winter of hardship and starvation.

In order to send a car load of flour from here, there will have to be over a hundred and fifty barrels contributed yet. The fund must be closed by the first of December at the latest, but C. G. Clark & Sons must know a week before hand in the neighborhood of what the shipment will be as it would require at least a week to get out a car load of flour. In case a car load is subscribed, Clark & Sons will buy some special sacks which will show where the shipment here came from.

A barrel of flour will accomplish wonders. An average barrel contains enough flour to make three hundred loaves of bread. In case of dire extremity, one person can live on a loaf of bread a day. Many instances of the sort are on record. So that one barrel of flour will keep alive one person 300 days or a family of five 60 days.

Disease--How to Prevent It

Prepared for the United Press by Dr. J. N. Hurty

To avoid delay, address all questions direct to the UNITED PRESS ASSOCIATIONS, 36 1/2 West Washington St., Indianapolis. Questions may be sent to THE DAILY REPUBLICAN if preferred.)

Why do people have smallpox? Those who know it is almost absolutely preventable, wonder if it is not because people want to have the disease. Whenever I see a case of smallpox it seems to me appropriate to remark in the words of Puck, "What fools these mortals be." I never have had the disease, yet I have handled it and lived with it for weeks at a time. My protection is simply successful vaccination.

Only last Tuesday north of Muncie I found Mr. Lusader, a farmer, with a very severe case of smallpox. His sufferings were very considerable and he was inclined to blame the health officers for his disease because they had not thoroughly quarantined someone elsewhere. Their boy had had the disease a few weeks before and was entirely recovered. He brought it home to them from school. Smallpox had been in the house for almost two months yet Mrs. Lusader was entirely free, being perfectly well and not having had even a slight headache or cold. She said she had been vaccinated successfully when she was a child. Many such instances are met with in public health work.

At Eaton several cases of smallpox were found and all in families where vaccination was looked upon with horror. This view of vaccination proceeds out of crass ignorance and somewhat out of conceit. Everywhere people say to health officers—"I don't believe in vaccination. I know a person whose arm almost rotted off with it. You can't get me to vaccinate. Its all grant anyhow. I would rather have small-pox than be vaccinated." These people do not provoke the health officers but only excite pity. It is ignorance and conceit which fathers the above quoted utterances.

Several years ago, a man in Spencer county railed at and abused me severely because with their consent I had vaccinated his wife and daughter who was a grown woman. He said over and over "I would rather have smallpox than be vaccinated." Four weeks afterwards this man was dead of hemorrhagic smallpox. When we lifted him from his bed the flesh slipped. He was an awful sight and most loathsome. He has his preference.

H. S. M. writes: "I am a girl 21 years old and weigh 225 pounds. My flesh shames me. Will vinegar reduce weight? Please advise me."

Reply—Don't take medicines to reduce your weight. Quit eating. Starve yourself, and you will find your weight go down. If you take medicines reputed to reduce weight, you certainly will do yourself harm. The weight reducing won't stop when you want to do if you rely upon medicines. You probably drink a great deal of water as most fat people do. Cut down your water one-half and your food one-half.

Mother writes—"Could enlarged tonsils injure the intellect? How about adenoids? Are they bad if not enlarged?"

Reply—Enlarged tonsils retard the development of the brain and hence of the intellect. Adenoids do the same thing. Enlarged tonsils are always diseased tonsils. When one has adenoids they should be removed otherwise the patient will not get enough air and consumption will probably be induced.

You Make Friends by Recommending a Reliable Kidney Medicine

Your representative called at my door yesterday meaning to leave a sample of your noted Swamp-Root and I am certainly pleased to see anybody connected with the firm who makes a medicine which has done so much for me and my family. A few years ago I was suffering from a terrible pain in my back and when I was up around the house I had to walk with my body bent nearly double. If you had placed a thousand dollars above my head I could not straighten up to get it.

Hearing of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root I sent to you for a sample bottle and from the effects of that small amount I was sure it would help me, so I bought one bottle and it has cured me.

Shortly after that my husband who was a coal miner, was suffering from kidney trouble and could not work and I sent for some of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root. He was in a terrible condition, but as the doctor's had not given me any relief, I had more faith in Swamp-Root, and it was well founded, for it did the work and after taking a few bottles he was completely cured.

I daily recommend the use of Swamp-Root to my friends and neighbors.

Sincerely yours,
MRS. JOHN NORDQUIST,
Galeton, Penna.

BIG GAME WAS ON THIS AFTERNOON

Stage All Set For Premier Game of Season at Greencastle—Wabash is Doped to Win.

FOR CHAMPIONSHIP, I. C. A. L.

Little Giants Have Better Record For Season Than Either Butler or DePauw University.

BY TOAD ELLIS.
(Written for United Press.)

Indianapolis, Nov. 16.—The stage was set over in Greencastle this afternoon for the premier game of the Indiana secondary college football season. The I. C. A. L. title will be determined without question by this game, and should Wabash win, few will contest the right of the Little Giants to claim the secondary title. Should Wabash lose, it would be very different, but Wabash probably will win.

For the few uninformed, it may be stated that Butler is not a member of the Indiana Intercollegiate Association, and therefore cannot be a factor in the I. C. A. L. race.

Should Wabash win today, it would have the best claim to all secondary titles, but should the game be a tie, Butler would, by virtue of its victory over DePauw, claim the secondary title. The only way then to satisfy the fans would be to have a post season game between Wabash and Butler, and this might be arranged.

As it looks on paper, Wabash has all the best of it today. The Old Gold fighting spirit, unhampered by overconfidence, may assert itself, but we think it can't overcome the Little Giants. Here is the showing made so far this season by the two teams:

Wabash has won five games and lost one—losing only to Purdue. Every one of Wabash's victories has been decisive.

DePauw has won three games and lost four. DePauw lost to Indiana, Michigan, Lake Forest and Butler and won from Franklin, Rose and Earlham.

Both teams have played Rose, Franklin and Earlham. Here are the comparative scores:

Wabash 24, Earlham 3; DePauw Wabash 34, Rose 6; DePauw 20, Rose 0.

Wabash 24, Franklin 7; DePauw 12, Franklin 7.

Against these three schools Wabash has scored 82 points to 16 scored on Wabash, while DePauw's record is 49 to 13. This would indicate that Wabash's offense is far superior to DePauw's and that their defense is about equal with a shade for DePauw. DePauw's defense was weaker against Earlham and stronger than Wabash's against Rose.

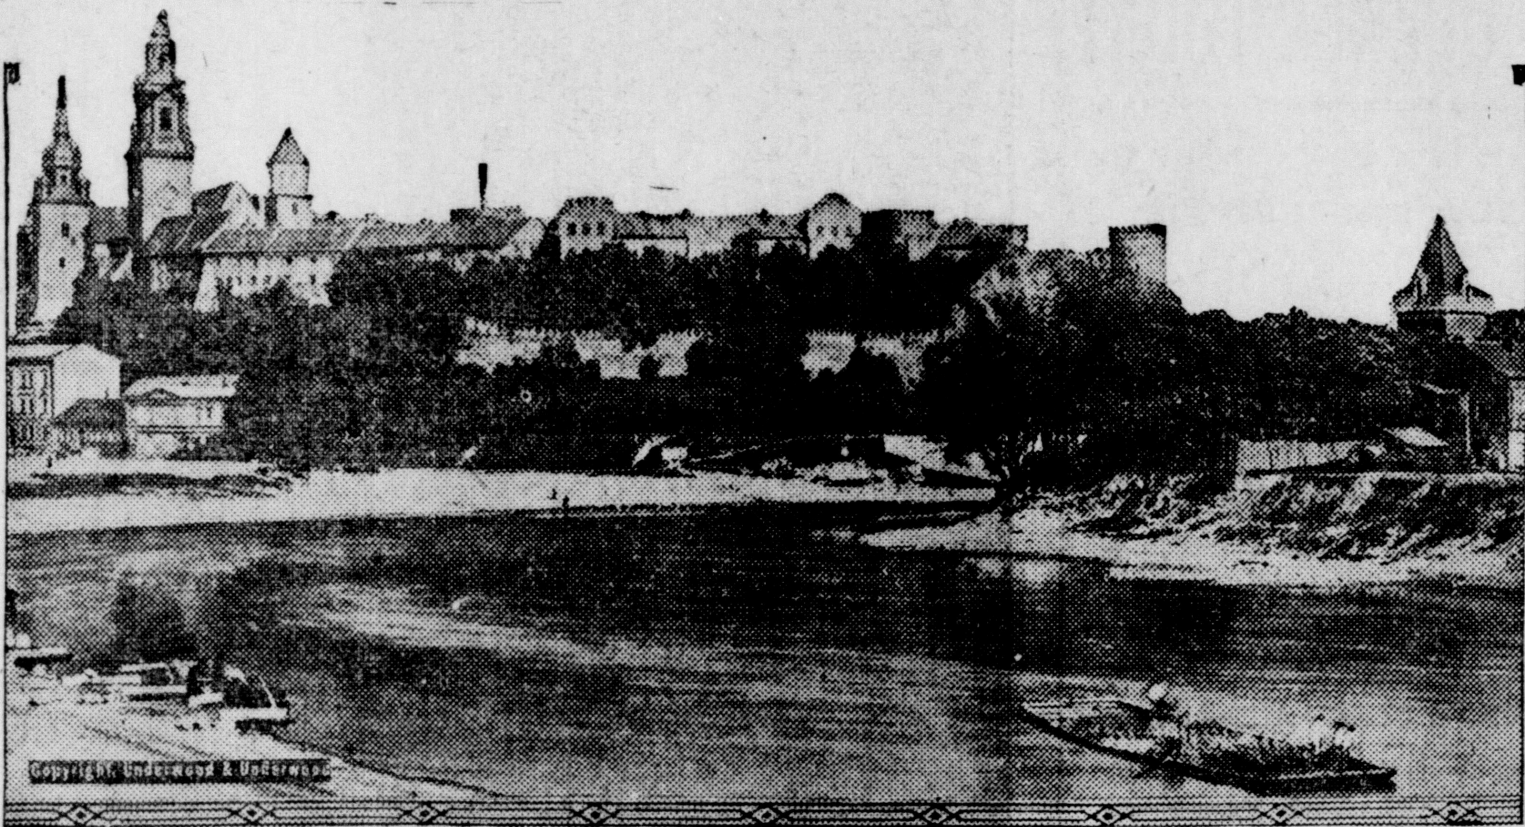

DePauw has the advantage of the home ground, but Wabash is accustomed to playing away from home. Only a complete reversal of form for both teams can give victory to DePauw today.

Butler's record this season—barring the unexplainable victory of 7 to 0 at Greencastle—is much poorer than either of these two teams and it would be a misfortune if Butler should lay claim to the secondary title after a season marked by only one decisive victory.

RUSHVILLE LOSES TO MAXWELL TEAM

Hard Fought Game Goes to Newcastle After Three Periods of Fierce Battling.

FOUR LOCAL PLAYERS HURT

The Rushville football team was defeated by Newcastle Sunday afternoon 13 to 0 in one of the best games ever witnessed in Newcastle. The game went only three quarters being called at the end of this period on account of rain.

For the first two periods the two teams battled on even terms and it was a pretty exhibition, neither team having an advantage. The pace, however, wore the local team out and in the third quarter the line gave way and two touchdowns were scored. The two teams fought to a standstill in the first half and the ball was advanced from one twenty-five yard line to the other without either team having an advantage. The game was hard fought and the Rushville team came out of the contest in a badly crippled condition. Wooster, Brann, McMahan and Gunning were among those injured. The team plays Shelbyville here Sunday and the team hopes to be in shape for this, the big game of the season.

WEATHER MAKES SITUATION ACUTE

Biting Gales Along Battle Line Bring Conditions to Allies That Causes Concern.

GERMAN ATTACK WEAKENS

(By United Press.)

London, Nov. 16.—Biting gales driving before them hail, rain and snow from Nieport along the entire left wing of the allied army have brought to the fighting line in Belgium and France conditions which are causing the war office the greatest concern.

The attack of the Germans has slackened owing both to inundation of additional territory and the storm which prevails. It is realized, however, that under present conditions danger in the British and French ranks of an epidemic must soon become acute. The suffering of the men is intense. Great quantities of heavy clothing and other supplies for winter campaigning have been rushed to France and more are following. It is feared, however, that with the ground sodden from the heavy rains and snow the death rate from sickness will be increased as all reports indicate the men find it practically impossible to keep dry.

THREATENS TO CAUSE BIG LOSS

Foot and Mouth Epidemic Must be Localized and Quickly Eradicated, Statement Says.

SICK CATTLE VALUELESS

They May Recover But They Are Generally Worthless—Five Previous Outbreaks Here.

Washington, Nov. 16.—The Secretary of Agriculture has issued the following statement regarding the quarantine for foot-and-mouth disease:

The present outbreak of the foot-and-mouth disease, which is one of the most contagious and destructive diseases of cattle, swine and sheep, exceeds in area affected any of the five previous outbreaks in this country. Unless the infection can be immediately localized and quickly eradicated, it threatens untold losses among live stock.

So contagious is the disease that in past outbreaks where but one animal in a herd was infected, the entire herd in almost all cases later contracted the sickness. While the mortality is not high the effects of the disease even on animals that recover are such as to make them practically useless. They lose flesh rapidly; in the case of cows, the milk dries up or is made dangerous for human consumption; in the case of breeding animals, the animal once infected becomes valueless for breeding, as it may continue to be a constant carrier of contagion.

It is possible to cure the external symptoms, but during the process of attempting to cure one sick animal the chances are that hundreds of others may be infected. The treatment or killing of a single animal in a herd was tried in an outbreak and did not prove effective, for the reason that the remainder of the herd soon became affected and had to be killed.

As a result of the five outbreaks in this country, and other disastrous epidemics of the disease in Europe and Great Britain, veterinary authorities of the United States are agreed that the only method of combating the disease is to stop all movement of stock and material which have been subjected to any danger of infection, and to kill off without delay all herds in which the disease has gained any foothold. This enables the authorities to eradicate herds and to isolate and hold under observation all suspected herds.

The owner of the slaughtered animals is reimbursed on basis of the appraised value of the herd, the appraiser being appointed by the State. The expense of the whole process of condemnation and disinfection is divided equally between the Federal and State Governments.

Until the entire premises have been thoroughly disinfected and all danger of spreading the disease removed, the farm is quarantined by the local authorities in the same way in which it would be for a contagious ous human disease. This local quarantine prevents the visit of individuals or the transfer of any produce or animals from the farm to other farms. In some cases, because human beings can carry the disease to other herds, the State authorities have prevented children on infected farms from attending school. In other cases, as in Illinois and Ohio, the State authorities have closed the stockyards until they can be cleaned and disinfected.

The first effort of the Department shipped are located and immediately is to discover and segregate all animals with the disease or that have been exposed. To this end, the Federal and State inspectors are now tracing up, through bills of lading and railroad records, all shipments of live cattle which have been made during the last sixty days out of any of the infected or suspected districts. The herds of animals so examined by veterinarians. In this way the presence of foot-and-mouth disease has been discovered in various places in the present wide area now under Federal quarantine, which includes Massachusetts, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Indiana, Illinois, Maryland, Michigan, Wisconsin, and Iowa. Similarly, the numbers of all cars in which animals have been transported from these districts have been obtained, and these are being located and thoroughly cleaned and disinfected.

Following the imposition of a general Federal quarantine, and the killing of actually infected herds, comes a farm-to-farm inspection of the entire quarantined area. Later, when it becomes clear that the disease has been localized, it will be possible for the Federal and State authorities to free from quarantine all but the actually infected counties or districts, and allow the uninfected territories to resume interstate shipments of stock.

The present outbreak first appeared in southern Michigan. How it was introduced there is not known. Shipments of diseased hogs from this place which passed to Chicago are believed to be responsible for the infection of the pens in the union Stockyards. Once the yards became infected there was danger that every shipment of live stock through Chicago to other parts of the country might pick up the germs of the disease and spread the contagion. These shipments, composed largely of feeders and stockers, were sent to farms for fattening and did not remain in Chicago long enough for the disease to show itself in external symptoms. Some of the cattle, carrying the contagion, after shipment develop external lesions and this accounts for the outbreak of the disease in States as far apart as Iowa and Massachusetts. For this reason a large force of Federal inspectors is now running down every shipment and examining the animals or herds at their place of delivery.

At present the chief danger lies in the possibility of there being concealed sources of infection. Every effort is being made by State and Federal authorities, not only to trace suspicious shipments, but to convince farmers of the seriousness of the disease and the extreme ease with which it is communicated, and to urge upon them to report at once to State or Federal authorities all suspicious cases of sore mouths or lameness.

(By United Press.)

Washington, Nov. 16.—The biggest bank the world has ever seen, the Federal Reserve Bank, capital stock $20,000,000,000 designed to prevent panics and give elasticity to our currency, opened its doors for business today. In twelve cities, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Cleveland, Richmond, Atlanta, Chicago, St. Louis, Minneapolis, Kansas City, Dallas, and San Francisco, the regional banks formally began their work. In every city and most every town of the country, banks formally became members of the Federal Reserve Bank system.

The inauguration of the Federal Reserve bank today marks a complete revolution of Uncle Sam's currency system. Its builders claim it will keep too much money from flowing into Wall street to the detriment of the rest of the country, enable one section of the country to better aid the business of another section in time of need, strengthen credit in times of stress, and thus, by keeping the money supply evenly distributed and more easily available cure the county of the panic disease which has been recurring about every 20 years for the past century.

The way it is going to affect the average person is something like this: If John Smith in Kansas has a wheat crop that he wishes to move and if Kansas is short of money, then the Federal Reserve Board will aid the Kansas City regional bank in getting money at any or all of the other eleven regional banks. It may be that Atlanta hasn't the money to spare, or that New York may be financing foreign shipment, or that Boston needs her money for the mills but San Francisco may have plenty of cash to spare. If so, then the San Francisco money will be used to move the wheat crop in Kansas, the entire system of credit being so coordinated and linked together as to have banks act as a unit in helping each other, so that there should never be a stringency of currency as has happened many times in the past but that the entire resources of the whole country should be ready on demand to help any needy section.

The new banking currency act, approved by the President on Dec. 23, 1913, replaces the system known as the national banking system, inaugurated towards the end of the Civil War. Under the old system, the national bank note currency was based upon government bonds deposited in the Treasury and the currency, thus issued has been classed by economists as bonds secured currency. This plan was involved not only to nationalize and to unify the currency—which had therefore consisted of notes issued by state banks—but as well to create a market for United States bonds, and in this way to sustain their value. It was successful entirely in the latter purpose, but it outwore its usefulness as a banking system because of its entire lack of elasticity.

Every national bank is a member of the Federal Reserve Bank system and many state banks took advantage of the opportunity to become members. The largest district, the Chicago district, has 952 member banks and the smallest district, Atlanta, has 372 member banks. Each member has obtained its membership by subscribing to Federal Reserve Bank of its district in the amount equal to six percent of its paid up capital stock and surplus. The Federal Reserve bank does not do business with the public in the sense that banks usually do; it may better be described as a "bank of banks." It is a depository for a certain proportion of the reserve of all the member banks, and in addition may also be a depository for government funds.

One of its most important functions, is as a bank of issue and redemption of currency for it may secure from the Treasury government notes known as Federal Reserve notes, which it is authorized to issue against commercial paper with a minimum gold reserve of forty operations in the open market, such as the purchase of commercial paper, foreign exchange, and in a general way are expected to perform important functions as clearing houses between their member banks. For instance; San Francisco owes Atlanta a million dollars on some commercial paper; Atlanta owes Boston a similar amount, and Boston owes San Francisco a million. By having the board act as a clearing house, these indebtednesses and inter-relationships can be simplified, just as the clearing house in New York simplifies the drawing of checks between New York banks.

Each Federal Reserve Bank has nine directors, three of whom represent the member banks, three represent commercial, agricultural or other industrial pursuit (these six being chosen by the member banks) and three government directors chosen by the Federal Reserve Board. The whole system is under the supervision of a central board in Washington—the Federal Reserve Board—consisting of Secretary of the Treasury McAdoo and Comptroller of the Currency Williams, acting ex-officio, and five other members appointed by the President and approved by the Senate, namely, Charles S. Hamlin, governor, Frederic A. Delano, vice governor, Paul M. Warburg, W. P. Harding and A. C. Miller.

With the opening of the Federal Reserve Banking system today, it is estimated that nearly $600,000,000 of reserve funds, no longer required under the new law was released. The amount released by districts was: Boston, $53,000,000; New York, $83,000,000; Philadelphia, $70,000, 000; Cleveland $59,000,000; Richmond, $21,000,000; Atlanta, $14,000,000; Chicago, $88,000,000; St. Louis $18,000,000; Minneapolis, $43,000,000; Kansas City, $57,000,000; Dallas, $24,000,000; San Francisco, $50,000,000.

NOVEMBER TERM OF COURT OPENS

Quiet Title Suit of R. O. Davis et al.

Against Oscar Marshall Starts
Before Special Judge.

JUDGE CALLS THE DOCKET

The November term of the circuit court opened with the hearing of the quiet title suit of Ransom O. Davis, et al., against Oscar Marshall, before Special Judge Thomas M. Green. The case was expected to occupy a greater part of the day. The plaintiff filed a request for a special finding of facts and conclusion of law before starting to introduce evidence.

Judge Megee called the docket at the opening of court and several rulings were made in various cases. Most of the attorneys were in court during the calling of the docket. In the case of John M. Eaton against George W. Fleener, on a note demanding $225, the defendant defaulted. The case has been on the docket several months and the defendant never entered an appearance.

SERMON TOPIC RAW RELIGION

Rev. A. D. Batchelor Points to
"Raw" Positions in Which Folks
May Find Themselves

MAY BE RAW ON MISSION SIDE

Then, Again, There May be a Rawness on the Money Side—May
Bake Life on Worship Side

Last night at the St. Paul's Methodist church, A. D. Batchelor, the pastor preached a sermon on "Raw Religion." The text was Hosea 7:8, "Ephraim is a cake not turned." The following is an outline of the sermon:

The reference is to the round flat scene which was baked in the Orient. The art of baking consisted in turning the scene at the proper moment. If this were mismanaged, one side was burnt to a cinder, while the other side remained raw.

Hosea applied the epigram to the religious pretense, but no righteous principle. Here alters smoked with sacrifices, but there were no warm and generous impulses in the hearts of the people. Their moral life was like an unturned cake. They baked the profession side to a cinder, while the righteous side was as raw as dough. We too are raw on the righteous side of life when we give more attention to ceremonies than to conduct, more attention to dogmas than to deeds. It is easy to over-do the formal and orthodox side of religion and to leave half done the weightier matters of the law—justice and mercy and faith. Our creeds become cindery and dry and crusty, with the freshness burned out of them, while our conduct is raw and cold as the sodden dough which has never come in contact with the fire.

We are sometimes raw on the mission side of religion. Some affect to believe only in religion for one side of the earth. They show some spirit toward the propagation of religion at home, but are cold on the proposition of evangelizing foreign lands. This untempered attitude, or ill-tempered as it sometimes is, burns the warmth out of one's heart so that his religious life becomes dry and crusty, like a cake burned on one side. Dr. A. J. Gordon said that one who is not a missionary christian will be a missing christian on the judgement day. If he is missing then it will be because his unfeeling attitude has given him an unsocial nature that is unfit for the eternal heaven which is a society of people out of every nation and tribe.

Not infrequently men are raw on the money side of religion. To use the privileges of the church without paying is to bake the life on the worship side and to leave it raw on the giving side. The artist who painted the picture of a dead and decaying church with a cobweb over the collection box expressed a tremendous truth. Nothing sooner burns the life out of the heart than covetousness. The covetous man is like a cake consumed on one side and raw on the other and therefore unfit for use. Money is for use. It is to be turned through interchange for good and beneficent purposes. When it is not so turned it leaves us like an unturned cake raw and cold on one side of our natures, hard and crusty on the other side. In the Ethics of the Dust Ruskin says "The money which the English use in cutting diamonds would, in ten years, if applied to cutting rocks instead, leave no dangerous reef nor difficult harbor around the whole island coast." In a word his objection to jewels is that they "can be retained without use." A cake is baked for consumption. But it is unpalatable when burned black on one side and left raw on the other. Likewise money is for use. But when "retained without use," it is misused and leaves us with a cold and crusty miserly character, which is unpalatable to men and to God.

Girls in Bad Health.

Hundreds of girls go to work day after day, afflicted with some ailment peculiar to their sex, dragging one foot wearily after the other, working always with one eye on the clock and wishing for closing time to come. Every such girl should rely on Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to restore her to a normal healthy condition, then work will be a pleasure. For forty years this famous root and herb medicine has been pre-eminently successful in controlling the disease of women. Why don't you try it?

Imitating the Ostrich

By ELLIOTT SMITH

One crisp October day a young man alighted from a train in a quiet village. During the summer he had met at a country resort a Miss Mathews, with whom he had dawdled about, boating, fishing, swimming, dancing—in short, doing those things which, when done in company with a pretty girl, generate love almost as surely as a dynamo will generate electricity.

During the period that they were together another young man named Dargan had come from the city, evidently for the purpose of being with the girl, for he immediately proceeded to monopolize her. Since he showed plainly that he was a suitor the young man of the first part, Emery, who had no more idea of marrying a wife than he had of establishing a bank, dropped out in his favor, leaving the young lady free to accept his attentions. After several days passed in company with her Mr. Dargan left the resort, and Miss Mathews was again unabashed. Mr. Emery slowly drifted back to his former status.

There is no position more capable of exciting a man's self contempt than to occupy the time and attention of a young lady whom he has no thought of marrying. But let him once realize that he doesn't wish any one else to marry her and he cannot but consider himself a veritable dog in the manger. Such was the position occupied by Mr. Emery when he recommenced spending his time in Miss Mathews' company.

As he afterward said, he was like the ostrich that hides its head in the sand to avoid being observed. Yet he was observed not only by others, but by himself.

When Mr. Emery left the resort and Miss Mathews' society he had made a step in advance. He knew that he would rather be hanged for Mr. Dargan's murder than that the said Dargan should marry Miss Mathews. But why? Did he want her himself? Surely he had not gone on his outing with the intention of becoming engaged? It was not feasible that he should become engaged. He had but $3,000 a year, and that was not sufficient to meet his own personal requirements. He did not know what Miss Mathews had and didn't care. Matrimony was with him out of the question anyway.

Some five or six weeks after the parting he was weak enough to go to the place where Miss Mathews lived. He went there to see her, but why he did not know. He had no more intention of entering the lists with Dargan—or any one else, for that matter—than he had gone away in the summer to marry a wife. He had written her that he would be in the vicinity of her home and would make a stop for the purpose of "renewing an acquaintance so pleasantly formed during the summer." He would call on a certain afternoon.

Why will persons say things they don't mean, knowing that those to whom they say them know they mean something else?

In what occurred during that visit I don't charge Miss Mathews with having purposely brought it about. Nevertheless if she did she had a perfect right to do so. When Emery called on her that afternoon he was ushered by a maid into a cozy library, where stood a lady's writing desk on which Miss Mathews wrote her letters, and he had no sooner entered than he saw a letter ready for the post lying where it had been written. He could not well help seeing the superscription.

The epistle was addressed to Dargan. Was it one of a correspondence? Was it an acceptance? Was it a rejection? That was for him to find out.

When Miss Mathews came in—tastefully arrayed, of course—she expressed herself "much pleased to meet again a summer acquaintance."

A summer acquaintance—that was true, but it was galling. He had said that he was pleased "to renew an acquaintance," etc. That, he knew, was all folderol, but the same thing coming from Miss Mathews was very different. It was depressing, saddening. Indeed, it was worse than a dozen funeral bells all tolling at once.

Miss Mathews' eyes fell on the letter on the desk. She started. Emery didn't start, but there was a sudden whirlwind of feeling within him which coagulated with a purpose. He plunged into the Rubicon.

Nevertheless he plunged so quietly that the net was not perceptible. He asked Miss Mathews whether she would go back to the same resort next year, and she said she didn't know; she hadn't thought much about it. Then he remarked that he thought he should spend his vacation next season in the autumn since he proposed to hunt. Both were talking about one thing and thinking about another—the letter on the desk. There was a pause in the conversation. Both looked up from the letter at the same moment, and their eyes met. Emery reached for it and tore it into little bits.

"You had no right to do that," said the girl.

"I'll write another." Taking up pen and paper, he wrote on it: "I have to announce to you my engagement to Mr. Emery, whom I met last summer in the country." Holding it up before her, he asked if she would put it in her own handwriting and mail it.

"Yes," she said, and that is the end of the story, except that she afterward told him she had refused Dargan before he left her at the summer resort.

out to the wonderful Coast. But he is not happy. There is something lacking which cannot be supplied by any other city in the world and that is the Subway.

Of course your loyal New Yorker kicks about the bad air that he has. He complains bitterly about the poor lights, the vibration of the jangling, jarring steel cars and the menace to health in the deafening roar. The Harlemites writes long letters to the newspapers elaborating upon what Every New Yorker Knows: that the trains are always late and that the express trains are just as bad as the locals. He even jests about it—to non-New Yorkers—and says that the difference between the locals and the expresses is that the former stop at all stations and the expresses stop between all stations.

But down in his heart he is fond of the Subway and he will defend it stoutly against the slings and arrows of commuters from New Rochelle, Chicago and other suburban points. He will tell you offhand how many passengers are carried through the hole in the ground for the ten years of its existence and it must be admitted that when he says that the total is two and a half billion passengers for the period he says it is something which is amazing. And that is only part of the story.

He can prophecy, for example, that New York City will have double its present population in 1950. That look into the future would be within the bounds of possibility for the history of the Subway in a single decade shows that it has been largely instrumental in building up the Bronx, Harlem and parts of Brooklyn.

A few years ago even New Yorkers would speak of 200th-st in the same way as they would of the North Pole. Both regions seemed far away, cold and inhospitable. Today the North Pole is a reality and lots on 200th-st are selling for $12,500 instead of the $1,000 price in 1904. Some lots that sold for $4,000 10 years ago will bring $75,000 now. Property values have increased mightily and the men who dug the Subway opened the way to ground which is far richer today than any gold mine.

The increased means of the transportation from outlying districts to the Broadway sky-scraper canyon and offices gave many persons a chance to live at greater and greater distances from the day's work. The New Yorker knows that he is indebted to the Subway for better living quarters and cheaper rent. That is why he is grateful to the Subway for better living quarters and cheaper rent. That is why he is grateful to the Subway and that is why too, the transportation question has been solved in political campaigns. But that is another story.

Another interesting feature in connection with this romance of transportation may be pointed out. The center of Father Knickerbocker's business and amusement activities follow the same Star of Empire at his dwelling place; namely, in a northerly direction.

A few years ago the Rialto meant 14th-st. Later it meant Broadway to 34th-st. Today the theaters and the lounging places for actors and managers is on Broadway at 42nd-st and the time is not far distant when Times Square will be deserted for some street farther uptown.

There are two subway stations on 42nd-st and the stream of humanity from the north and south pours into those two stations when it is headed for the theaters or for the opera.

In like manner the department stores have moved up from 14th-st. The famous stores which once lined this street and Sixth-ave are now on Fifth-ave—all within a short distance from the two subway stations on 42nd-st. Lower Fifth-ave is given over to left buildings and Fourth-ave is the heart of the silk trade in this country. The downtown wholesale and manufacturing district is going uptown just as fast as it can for the high rents of lower Manhattan make the overhead expense prohibitive.

A new Subway is being built now and New York still looks to be in the unfinished condition at which visitors sneer. But the real Gothamite knows that the workman are burrowing under ground in order that he may live better and more reasonably.

That's why he likes the smell of the Subway.

Farmers Are Advised to Raise Horses Now

During the next decade there will probably be an increased demand for American horses in the countries now engaged in the European war. The demand may even continue much longer, as not only will horses be needed for armies, but when peace is restored more will be needed for agriculture. Already European agents are said to be endeavoring to purchase horses in this country and Canada, and there is an increased interest in many sections in horse breeding.

To meet this increased European demand, American farmers may well endeavor to raise well-bred horses, but the department does not advise them to purchase a surplus of horses merely for breeding purposes. It merely advises that ordinary farm work should be done whenever possible by good mares, which should be bred to good stallions. It also desires to emphasize the fact that only horses of high quality may be profitably raised today. Inferior horses are a drag on the market, and their production is to be discouraged as much as the production of good horses should be encouraged.

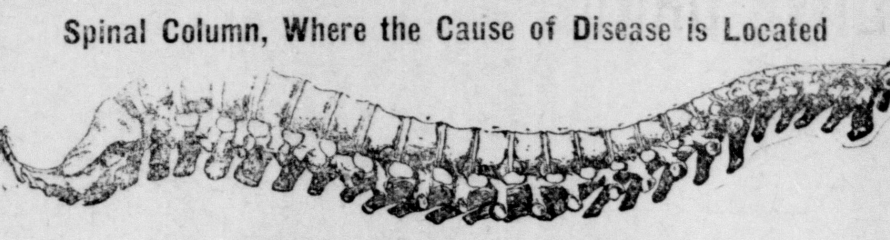

The United States has previously been drawn on to supply European countries at war. In the Boer war over 100,000 horses were bought here by the British government. It may be doubted whether a foreign government could now obtain a similar supply in this country, except at excessive cost. However, if farmers take pains to utilize their good mares during this winter to breed them to good stallions, in the course of several years (time enough for the foals to develop) America will be better able to meet the European demand.

It is natural that European countries should look to the United States horses, as next to Russia it has more of these animals than any other country in the world. The United States and Russia possess 58 per cent. of the world supply. Strange to say, however, there were no horses originally on our continent, and the present supply comes from stock brought over from Europe. Canada's supply is small compared to our own.

Spinal Column, Where the Cause of Disease is Located

CHIROPRACTIC

(KI-RO-PRAC-TIC)

The scientific method of removing the cause of all disease by adjusting to the normal position the misplaced (subluxated) vertebrae of the spinal column. The subluxated vertebra cause pressure on the Great Trunk Nerves which emanate between them, thus shutting off the transmission of vital current from the brain to some organ or part of the body to which they lead, leaving it in a weakened condition, subject to disease, causing over 95 per cent of all sickness and suffering known to mankind. Chiropractic adjustments remove the pressure (the cause of disease,) restores the vital energy and health returns. I use the hands only. I ask no questions; simply analyze the spine and tell you every place you are affected. Appendicitis, Rheumatism, Nervousness, Asthma, Neuralgia, Deafness, Loss of Voice, Insomnia, Constipation, Bed Wetting, Headaches, Paralysis, Hay Fever, Catarrh, Goiter and affections of the Eyes, Nose, Throat, Lungs, Stomach, Liver, Spleen, (Heart), Bowels, Bladder, Kidneys and reproductive organs quickly and permanently disappear under Chiropractic adjustments properly given. Spinal Curvature quickly corrected. If you are sick or suffering in any way; if you have tried many physicians, specialists and medicines to no avail, then it is your plain duty to consult a chiropractor.

PROVOKE CHARGES AGAINST TWO BOYS

Delbert Newman and Gordon Bennett Are Fined Five Dollars and Costs This Afternoon.

RE-CAPTURED BY SULLIVAN

Delbert Newman and Gordon Bennett were arraigned before Mayor Bebout this afternoon on charges of provoke filed by Bertha Shy, colored, and Grace Roberts, employed at the Windsor hotel. Both pleaded not guilty and the trial was held. Newman was found guilty and fined five dollar and costs, amounting to $15. He went to jail for fifteen days. The trial of Bennett was not completed until late this afternoon as the mayor was waiting to see if Nightwatchman, Frank Sullivan knew anything about the case. Later he was given the same fine as Newman.

The girls alleged that the two boys appeared at one of the hotel windows on Morgan street Saturday night and insulted them by their vulgar talk. Newman broke and ran from Sullivan while enroute to jail. This was about seven o'clock. Sullivan fired two shots in the air and managed to capture Newman in the alley back of the Barret restaurant in First street when Newman ran into a buggy. He arrested Bennett later in the evening.

Cruce of Oklahoma: "I believe thoroughly in a state department of highways; believe that all roads constructed within the state should be constructed under plans drawn by the state department of highways."

Major of Missouri: "In Missouri we have a general state road fund supplied with money from automobile licenses, and from a corporation tax. The fund now amounts to practically $400,000 yearly. The fund is growing at the rate of $100,000 a year."

Baldwin of Connecticut: "In favor a state appropriation for goods roads payable out of the current revenue, and not by the avails of a bond issue."

Carey of Wyoming: "I think it very dangerous for a state to issue bonds for road building or to permit counties to do so. One great trouble is that the people are in a high excited state over good roads."

WINTER MAKES DEBUT

Comes in With Heavy Gale, Snow and Drop in Temperature.

Winter, in all its furor, entered today, driving Indian summer out and bringing with it snow, a fierce gale and low temperature. The temperature fell to twenty degrees above zero early this morning and during the day the mercury did not get above twenty-five degrees. Snow fell at various times during the day, but the fall was very light. The drop in temperature began Sunday evening following a severe rain storm.

BODY FOUND IN LAKE.

(By United Press.)
Chicago, Nov. 16.—The initials "N. C." on her silk undergarments were the only clue held by the police today in their efforts to identify the body of a well-dressed woman fished from Lake Michigan yesterday. The woman was between 30 and 35 years of age. A small bag containing $40 was found in her dress.

KILLS STRAWBERRY CROP.

The fond dreams of Allen R. Holden, county auditor, for a second crop of strawberries were dashed to earth today when winter was ushered in. He had several strawberry plants in his garden which were blooming and many which were about ready to bear fruit. But the hard freeze last night killed them all.
